2021-22
1.	Research quality may be enhanced by collaborative research with other institutions.	The institution entered into Memorandums of Understanding (MOUs) or agreements with other establishments to enhance research experiences and support exchange programs for both staff and students.
2.	Consider incorporating a case study methodology, along with assigning group projects and assignments.	Students were assigned case study tasks, aiding in the development of problem-solving abilities. Additionally, they were given group assignments and projects, and interdepartmental projects were executed.
3.	Students need to excel in their aptitude skills, as it serves as the initial stage of the interview process.	Comprehensive aptitude training sessions were scheduled.
